

I'm totally against the big companies owning most of the broadcasting on radios and on TV's. I feel that there should be a limit on how many they should own. The broadcasting should be own by many people and not just a few. I feel that those big companies are controlling what they want people to hear, music we listen to ect. and that's not right. We're not getting the information that we should be listening but we have the right to know.
